

GATES SAYS THE SOUTH PROSPERS

Greatest Cotton Acreage in World's History.

TO BE PLANTED THIS YEAR

High Prices and Circulation of Money Regarded as the Causes of Large Output.

CHICAGO, March 31.—J. W. Gates has returned to Chicago after an absence dating from Christmas. Mr. Gates will reside in New York, as he has purchased a home there and disposed of his Michigan Avenue residence in this city. "I have been South, largely in Florida and Texas, all winter," said he. "The prosperity of the South just now is nothing short of wonderful. The greatest cotton acreage in the history of the world has been and is now being planted. I saw cotton in Texas a few days ago almost ten inches above the ground. Barring accidents, this year's crop will be the greatest in history for two reasons—the very high prices of the past year and the widespread circulation of money throughout the Southern States."
